

From: nj_shore_south <nj_shore_south@hotmail.com>
To: <jpamidtermreview@ntia.doc.gov>
Date: Wed, Feb 6, 2008 10:15 PM
Subject: Comments on ICANN JPA Midterm Review

The ICANN system can only be described one way, a complete disaster.

An endless series of complaints have streamed to NTIA for years with nothing being done. ICANN completely ignores everyone and wastes large sums of money, both ICANN's and those tricked into participating, in pretending openness. ICANN's main goal is to funnel money into the law firms associated with ICANN officers.

The problem lies within the NTIA and Department of Commerce. The managers are generally short-termers who are involved in law firms and lobbying. Their main concern is post-government employment and keeping their lobbyist friends happy. The workers are generally low paid employees who are either short-termers who are planning to take higher paying jobs after they learn, or lifetime government employees who don't care anymore. They all just go along with the game, go on all the worldwide trips, and attend all the parties. In any case, everyone is perfectly happy standing by and letting ICANN do whatever they want and everybody knows it.

Shed those extra pounds with MSN and The Biggest Loser!
<http://biggestloser.msn.com/>