To whom it may concern,

I live in a rural area of southwest Missouri just west of a town Walnut Grove. We have to pay more than five times the amount for using satellite internet than city or town residents. I know there are two electric coops in the more northern part of the states that offers broadband at a much lower cost to their customers. There has been no mention of this event happening with our coop, Ozark Electric. We do use internet for many purposes, including business and school and would like to see a more balanced fairness in the cost of using the internet.

Thank you for your time,
